

Andrew Apperley

Senior Mobile Developer

SUMMARY

I'm an experienced Full Stack Software Developer with a decade of experience that has a passion for writing well architected, elegantly implemented, and scalable code across the entire stack though I primarily focus on mobile. I'm well versed in Native iOS development using Swift and Objective-C, as well as Javascript on the frontend and backend.

Andrew is a pleasure to work with, and a true professional and great teammate. I joined a team late in the development cycle, having to ramp up quickly. Andrew offered clear, expert answers to my questions, quickly establishing himself as a go-to person on my list. Andrew's patience, guidance, and review of proposed changes were invaluable, improving the end product considerably. Andrew's knowledge of development tools and technologies is broad and deep -- he is the real full stack developer, adept whether working on a mobile app front-end or back-end server API. It would be a privilege to work with Andrew again. Hire him.
